CREATIVE ARTS

ALTERED FILE FOLDER JOURNAL With Debra $47 Includes Materials Kit

In this class we use a manila folder to create a small journal that would be great to carry in a handbag as a brag book. I have used mine as a small family tree journal that I can take with me to share photos and information with family members. You may like to use yours for a Grandma's brag book or similar. It is also a good one for a male as the papers are a new range from Dress My Craft – My Gentleman. These papers are thick and lush, perfect to use as a journal that will withstand being in a handbag. They are also single side and the reverse side is wonderful to write on.

MIXED MEDIA ART JOURNALING – LAYERING WITH DYLUSSIONS SPRAY INKS With Robyn Wood $30 includes some materials

As we leap into 2020, I'd like to share a few new techniques with you all. This month we will continue to work in a smaller journal and create two pages. February's class will focus on some different ways to layer Dylusions spray inks. As always, I will have items to share but please bring what you have from the supplies list – you will especially need the items listed under basics for each class. Don't forget to let us know if you are a beginner when you book – you are absolutely welcome, but it means I set aside time at the beginning to support you in product choices & information.

THE WHITE RABBITS POCKET BOOK $38 Includes Materials Kit ...

So, we create this gorgeous small journal with a wonderful resin white rabbit as the feature, while using the latest of mixed media products, we add texture and colour. So, don't be late like the white rabbit, make a date and create. This could also be done on a tag or panel.

Who does not love storage? We all do, so combine our love of mixed media with storage and make our own washi tape or alcohol ink box. Featuring a wonderfully languid Mermaid storage box, you can store inks, washi tape, liquid pearls, even the remote if you wish in this elegant box. We create the box and use alcohol inks in a surprising way, to make our wishy washy base.
